The Weiss Gallery

The Weiss Gallery is currently participating at the London Art Week 2017 through July 7, 2017.

The gallery is the leading dealer in Tudor, Stuart and North European Old Master portraiture. Located in the heart of St James', one can find an unequalled selection of historical portraits for sale at the premises. The gallery is presenting a collection of Tudor & Jacobean Portraits, focusing on the various portraits of the kings and the queens of England; from Elizabeth I to James I, at the London fair this year.

Hosted across more than forty of the capital's most notable galleries, as well as three leading auction houses, the London Art Week welcomes visitors from around the globe to experience world class art up close. With a myriad of objects on display, from ancient sculptures to Old Master drawings and Impressionist paintings, visitors can revel in the celebration of art.

The exhibition is being held at 59 Jermyn Street, London.
